CAR LINE ORDINANCE IS PASSED

APPROVED BY CITY COUNCIL
AT MEETING LAST EVENING

ONLY CHANGE MADE IS ONE RE-
QUIRING COMPANY TO OPER-ATE CARS EVERY DAY FOR TEN MONTHS OF YEAR.

At a special called meeting of the Daytona city council the proposed ordinance granting a franchise to Michael Schmitz and associates to build and operate a street railway line on certain streets in the city of Daytona, was brought up on third reading and passed.

The final provision of the proposed ordinance is a call by the people for a special election to be held April 16, when the proposed ordinance will be submitted to a vote of the people for ratification or rejection.

The only change made in the ordinance before its passage was in the provision which called for the operation of cars over certain tracks one way times each way during each of the months of the year, which was made to end four times each way every day during the ten months. It was explained to the members of the council that this was the intention in drafting the ordinance, and the name of the provision should have been that the cars are to be operated every day.

Before the passage of the ordinance by the council a motion was made by Alderman E. T. Coard that the track on South Beach street should not be run south of Orange avenue, but the motion received no second and the change was not made.

TO SETTLE LAWRENCE STRIKE END IS EXPECTED TOMORROW

NOW EXPECTED THE WORKERS WILL ACCEPT INCREASE OF PERCENT BY MILL OWNERS AND RETURN TO WORK.

LAWRENCE, March 13.—It is predicted today by local strike leaders that the textile workers' strike, which has been in progress here for a number of weeks, will end tomorrow. It is now considered practically certain that the workers will accept the increase offered by the mill owners, which ranges from five to 25 per cent. More than 200,000 mill operatives will be benefitted by the settlement.

This afternoon the strike committee voted to accept the terms offered by the American Woolen company. This is regarded as practically ending the big textile workers' strike. The strikers will vote on the recommendation of the acceptance of terms tomorrow or Friday.

Alfred Clarke and Addis M. Whitney, president and secretary and treasurer, respectively of the Schenck Electric, Ice and Water company, left this morning on their return to Boston, Mass. Messrs. Clarke and Whitney, who have been in the city for the past three weeks, expressed regret that they could not further prolong their stay. They have become strongly attached to Daytona and have made many friends here.

BANDITS HOLD UP A TRAIN

MAIL AND BAGGAGE CARS ARE RUN AHEAD AND THEN LOOTED

AFFAIR IS WELL PLANNED AND CARRIED OUT BUT TWO OF ROBBERS ARE KILLED BY THE EXPRESS MESSENGER.

SANDERSON, Texas, March 13.—The Southern Pacific westbound passenger train was held up by bandits near here this morning. The holdup being carried out in true western style.

After the train had been brought to a stop the bandits uncoupled the locomotive, mail and baggage cars and compelled the engineer to pull them several miles ahead of the rest of the train. Then the engineer was ordered to stop and the mail and baggage cars were looted.

As soon as a report could be made of the robbery a posse was organized and started in pursuit of the robbers.

Later the posse overtook the robbers, who fought desperately, but two of the robbers were shot and killed in the battle with the officers.

Later developments show the bandits were not killed by the posse, but by Express Messenger John Trousdale. The express messenger struck one of the robbers on the head with a mallet as he crawled into the car, braining the robber.

As the second bandit appeared Trousdale shot him dead, thus saving the money in the hands of the express company.

GOOD GAMES TODAY IN TENNIS TOURNAMENT.

This morning's contests in the Despland hotel tennis tournament proved very interesting. The result between Ben Folz and John D. Hass proved the most exciting contests and best exhibitions of playing so far in the tournament.

The court was in fairly dry condition but hardly in shape for the fastest playing, the contestants skipping around and even falling at times. Miss Constance McConnell eliminated her sister, Miss H. McConnell, from the ladies' singles, 6-4, 6-1, being the scores. Miss H. McConnell had previously defeated Mrs. L. M. Waite. Miss Constance McConnell has now won two series in the ladies' singles, yesterday morning defeating Miss Doig of Seabreeze.

Mr. Folz defeated Mr. Hass in exciting contests, scores 4-6, 7-5, and 6-1. Miss Jessie Fitter, of Brooklyn, defeated Miss Marian Fiersheim, of St. Louis, in well played games, scores, 6-4, 6-3.

COLON, March 13—Rumors that the excavation of the Cuébra cut is uncovering a slumbering volcano, which have been current for several weeks, are growing stronger and it is now said the volcano threatens to interfere with the canal operations.

Clouds of steam and black smoke are rushing from the newly turned ground and in many fissures the temperature is so hot the bare hand can not stand it.

Holes drilled in the affected area are all tested with a thermometer before the dynamite charge for blasting is inserted, to prevent premature explosions. Wood dropped into the cracks in the earth have charred rapidly.

BEST MEANS TO PROMOTE CHRISTIANITY

TOPICS OF THE ADDRESSES AT MEETING IN ST. LOUIS

PROMINENT MEN IN THE RE-LIGIOUS MOVEMENT DISCUSS CONDITIONS AND PROBLEMS AT CONVENTION.

ST. LOUIS, March 13—C. M. Bishop, Dr. D. president of the Southwestern university, was the first speaker at today's session of the convention of the Religious Education association. He will soon make a tour of the entire state, visiting every county, to see what is being done in the way of good roads building and work up sentiment for more activity in this direction.

The denominational institution has a special relation to its own field and through it to the whole field of religious need and endeavor. In this double relation it finds its opportunity; and out of this opportunity grows its responsibility. The worst vindication of its very right to exist can be made by a Christian denomination only by service rendered to the church universal. The denomination which trains a man for a service broader than its own, man whose sympathies and whose outlook reach over the whole wide field, has thus established its own essential catholicity.

It is therefore the prime duty resting upon the college or university which is connected in some vital way with a Christian church to furnish in its course of study the means of general culture which will tend to develop the strong personality necessary for leadership, and also to give the special training required for efficient work in its own various positions of influence and power."

Dr. Paul Carus, whose books of philosophy have attracted considerable attention in the world of science, gave a short discourse on the evolution of religion in which he said:

"The religious needs of mankind remain the same, but our comprehension grows. Thus the religion of the future will, in all essentials, remain the same, so far as the needs of our hearts are concerned, but must adapt itself in externalities to the intellectual demands of the times, otherwise our religion will become inefficient. Above all we need the light of truth, of genuine scientific truth, for science is it appears in the well-secured results of scientific research is the true light which enlightens every man that cometh into the world."

F. A. Crosby, director of the Chicago Y. M. C. A., spoke of the need of the introduction of some method or system which will make more efficient the present church organization for boy's work and suggested as a possible remedy the Boy Scout movement, which he said was a "force, scientific and adaptable in its nature and appeal, which, if rightly applied, will bring the older boy and the Sunday school to a better mutual understanding."

That it was the duty of choirmasters and organists to be persons of devout conduct for the purpose of leading the proper example to those committed to their charge was one of the strong points in the address of Albert Cottsworth, editor of the Musical News, on "The Creed of the Modern Organist."

After F. Cottsworth's address, President Eaton made a few remarks on the necessity of using great care in choosing hymns for Sunday school singing.

Alderman E. J. McE. has purchased from the Autolite Motor company a model T Ford touring car.

STRANGE SPREAD OF RUMOR

It is So Mysterious That Greeks and Romans Made of it a Deity.

Deity.

The phenomenon of Rumor—its mysterious origin and marvelous spread—impressed the ancient Greeks that they made of it a deity, Pheme, to whom altars were raised. This deity, however, was not so completely personified as the later Roman Fama, but considered rather as a divine voice—the Vox Dei, as Grose puts it, passing into the Vox Populi. The classic case is the news of the Greek victory over the Persians at Plataea, in Boeotia, which Pheme was said to have communicated to the Greeks as they went into action at Mycale on the other side of the Aegean, a few hours later, although there was no telegraphy in R. C. 473. Grose compares Michelangelo's account of the storming of the Bastille, which more than once emphasizes the fact that nobody proposed it; the whole populace seemed simultaneously inspired.

DIET AND HEALTH HINTS

By DR. T. J. ALLEN

Food Specialist

MONODIET HELPS RESISTANCE TO DISEASE.

An important confirmation of the principle of the monodiet (one food at a meal, or two or three that harmonize) which has been shown in these hints to have an important influence in resistance to disease, in endurance, physical and mental, and in the prevention of cancer, is found in the results of experiments made by Dr. Reid Hunt, of the United States Hygienic Laboratory. The resistance of mice fed on oatmeal was found to be much greater to certain poisons than of those fed on eggs, crackers and milk. The same was found to be true of rats, and it is probable that similar results would be obtained with human beings. Professor Ehrlich has found that mice inoculated with cancer recovered more readily when fed on rice than when given a mixed diet.

KNOWLEDGE OF EVIL NEEDED

Virtue and Progress in the Right Path Cannot Spring From Mere Innocence.

Innocence is lovely in the child, because in harmony with its nature, but our path in life is not backward but forward, and virtue can never be the offspring of mere innocence. If we are to progress in the knowledge of good, we must also progress in the knowledge of evil. Every experience of evil brings its own temptation, and according to the degree in which the evil is recognized and the temptations resisted will be the value of the character into which the individual will develop.

Innocence may be beautiful, while the whole essence of virtue lies in its strength to resist and power to endure. If the innocence of childhood be replaced by the firm principles of integrity and honor, the loss will be really a great gain. It is only where the knowledge of evil is unmarred by appreciation of its nature, where temptations are yielded to and not resisted, that we are induced to grieve over the departure of that innocence which was so beautiful in earlier years.

Traveler's Test.

The eminent traveler, James Bruce, was highly touchy whenever his veracity was called into question. It happened that, when dining out one day at a friend's house, one of the guests observed "that it was impossible that the natives of Abyssinia could eat raw meat." Without making any reply, Bruce went behind the table, and before long returned from the kitchen with a piece of raw beef, peppered and salted in the Abyssinian fashion. Placing this in front of the guest who had doubted his word, he said: "Sir, you will eat that or fight me!" The guest preferred the former alternative, whereupon Bruce calmly observed, "Now, sir, you will never say again that it is impossible."

SECRETARY MEYER HOLDS HARD JOB

HEAD OF NAVY DEPARTMENT MUST KEEP THINGS MOVING

EVERYTHING MUST BE WORKING WELL AND IN SHAPE FOR VESSELS TO GO TO WAR ON SHORT NOTICE.

The secretary of the navy are the only persons connected officially with the service who may take trips on the battleships.

Of course ships of war are frequently used to transport parties, including members of the families of congressmen and high government officials, exclusive of officers of the navy.

To keep this intricate system in perfect running order requires the constant attention of the naval officers and the wise management of the secretary of the navy. The fleets, however, are but one branch of the navy service. There are the navy yards, the naval academy and many other ramifications which make the system as many-sided as any department of the government.

WHERE RELIGION IS OPEN

Its Observance in Public is Common Among Eastern Christians, as Among Mohammedans.

The Bishop of London has been praising the openness with which Mohammedans practice their religion. He would like to have more in the atheumum for bishops to kneel down to say their prayers in public. Eastern Christians, as the bishop must have observed when in Russia, are quite as open in religious observances as Mohammedans. Nobody thinks it eccentric for a man to kneel down in a crowded street in order to say his prayers before some icon. Passengers cross themselves when their train or tram starts. No man ever passes through the Gate of the Savior, leading into the Kremlin at Moscow, without uncovering. In Poland the common greeting of the country people one meets on the lonely roads across the sad plains is "May Jesus Christ be praised," and it is the custom to reply, "For ever and ever." In Vilna people are to seen kneeling in the street before the Ostrabamska gateway to pray before the picture of the Virgin and child, seen through a window high in the gate. This shrine is a Catholic one, but even the orthodox do bare their heads to walk up the narrow and crowded street leading to it.

Secretary Meyer has, however, in the state, war and navy buildings in Washington, several hundred, perhaps a thousand sleek clerks bossed by able heads of departments, who in turn are told what to do by a number of rear-admirals. The system is very nearly perfect, except when minor disturbances creep in, such as the blowing up of a powder magazine on board some ship of war or the mischance of an open breech letting a shell slip out of the wrong end of a gun into the laps of the gunners at target practice.

On the whole, though, the men of the navy are a blythe lot, and so the navy runs like clockwork. Basically there is an exact progression in the navy. Originally a young man's father becomes influential in politics, he buttonholes his members in congress about an appointment for his son; the son is appointed to the naval academy; then if he isn't expelled for hazing he graduates and gets in the way aboard some battleship. When his education goes far enough to avoid stepping on other people's toes, he is promoted. There is a series of promotions and finally he is retired with the rank of rear-admiral and given a swivel chair in the navy department and a press notice in the morning papers. He is probably made "aid for personnel" or "aid for stationary and postage stamps." That is the system. Sometimes the order is changed a little by the rude intrusion of war, but not often.

To keep this perfectly adjusted system in good running order, regulations must be periodically drawn up and issued as "general order number so and so." One has just been issued. The order says that "reserve fleets will be commanded by officers of flag ranks," and a long list of subordinates which include the entire gamut of promotion.

Then there is the yearly cruise of the fleet vessels. "Commanders of reserve fleets will be required to take or send each ship under his command to sea for a short period at least once a year during which a full-power trial and possibly target practice will be held. In this connection rules extending the competitive feature to reserve ships will be framed to place a premium upon the efficient performance of the battery and the upkeep of motive and other machinery."

The regulations for government of the men are very stringent. No more than half of the crew of any vessel may be off duty at any time. Even those men who are given shore leave may not go far away from the ship.

Women are occasionally allowed on board for a short time when the vessel is docked, but the wife of no officer is permitted to reside aboard ship. Even the wife of the admiral of the navy may not accompany him upon cruises. The wife and family of

HOW INSECTS WALK ON WATER

Hairs on Their Feet Inclose Enough Air to Enable Them to Float.

Even a solid rod of iron may be made to float provided it is small enough. Take a fine needle, wipe it with an oily rag, but do not leave any visible trace of oil on it, and then lay it gently on the surface of water in a basin. It will float and continue to float for some little time.

The cause of this is the fact that a quantity of air adheres to the needle sufficient to buoy it up. Moreover, as the cohesion between the particles of water is considerable, and as water has no attraction for a perfectly dry piece of steel, the cohesion of the water is greater than the weight of metal, and so the latter is supported.

In the same way insects are enabled to walk upon the water.

The hairs on the end of their feet inclose an amount of air that enables them to float.

As each foot is put down it forms a sort of cup-like depression in the water, and the liquid thus displaced is sufficient to float the insect.

EATING A LITTLE, OFTEN VS. FULL MEALS.

The question whether it is better to eat a little at a meal and eat often or to eat a few full meals, is one that cannot be answered absolutely. There are cases in which the former plan, temporarily at least, is better, and it would not be wise for an old person who has been all his life in the habit of eating five meals, as is the custom among the well-to-do classes in England, or a larger number, as in Germany, to suddenly adopt the two-meal plan. Nature requires time for adjustment, especially in the fundamental habit of eating, and more harm may be done by suddenly making an improvement than by continuing in the old way. Old people should make few changes and cautiously. Weston, the pedestrian, eats twice daily, at ten and five p.m.

GIFFORD PINCHOT'S SISTER

Lady Allan Johnstone, sister of Gifford Pinchot, the former government forester, is the wife of the British minister to The Hague and has rejoined Sir Allan there after an extended visit in this country. Sir Allan was knighted by King Edward for distinguished services to the royal house while he was minister to Copenhagen.

The Victories

By Wilbur D. Nesbit

They were Time and Death and Fame — to a meeting place they came And in brotherly affection they saluted each by name.

"Of my labor do you ask?" Fame confided, "This my task: I am twining wreaths of laurel, I am weaving wreaths of bay — On the path where Glory leads men are doing mighty deeds And the guardons of their striving I award to them each day. To the victors I must give tokens that their work shall live, I have led them to their honor through the trials of the fray."

Then a knowing smile came slowly to the sober lips of death; "I have made my share of victories," he said beneath his breath.

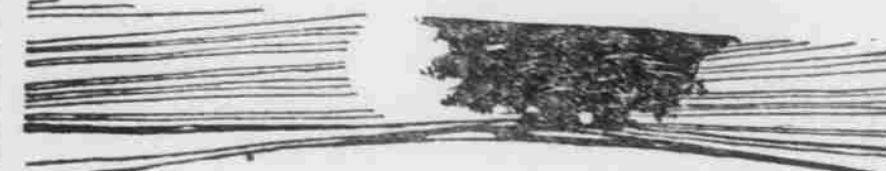

"I have led men," Fame went on, "in the days and years ago; I have thrilled them with my brightness, as a star that sends its gleam From its biding place on high, till of all the arching sky 'Tis the only luring jewel — 'tis the star of which men dream. And today I write the song set in measures full and strong Of the men who rise supremely where their weaker brethren fall — I have made the victories of the lands and of the seas, I have made the goal of glory — I have made them one and all."

Then it was that Death said softly, with a countenance sedate: "Was there never any victor through your foster brother Fate?"

"No, 'tis I," continued Fame, "I who carve in stone the name; I who wreath in gold the story of the daring and the deed; It is I who am allied with ambition and with pride — It is I who fill the flagon to the man who holds the lead."

"It is you?" asked Death and Time. "And for you they fall or climb? And for them you work the laurel and the bay in rounded weaves?" Then they turned to their way — and the laurel and the bay At the feet of Fame were lying in a heap of withered leaves.

Then Time sat, and fell to laughing, with his hour glass on his knees; "I have seen," he told his brethren, "many thousand victories."

(Copyright, 1912, by W. G. Chapman.)

Challenged.

"I know an actor who can draw tears from both men and women by the skilful way in which he can work upon their feelings."

"Humph! Any dentist can do the same."

Not Correct.

She — They don't use large checks for stylish costumes now.

He — Don't they! Did you see the size of the last one I sent to your dressmaker?

Unusual.

"It is queer that the quarrels of leading actresses with their managers about their dressing rooms are not more secret."

"Why should they be?" "Because the conferences are star-chamber sessions."

Half and Half.

Customer — How much for that suit of clothes, if I pay cash?

Tailor — Forty dollars.

Customer — How much on credit?

Tailor — Eighty dollars, half of it down.

That the abnormal weather conditions prevailing for many months still continue is evidenced by the rain of yesterday. March, April and May are usually the driest months of the year in Florida and there is normally but little rain throughout the winter, but the past season has been one of almost continual rain to balance up with the dry summer which preceded it, and the precipitation of moisture still continues. J. G. Brown reports the rainfall of yesterday to be one and one-half inches.

George S. Demuth, engaged with Dr. E. F. Phillips in the Agricultural division of the department of agriculture at Washington, D. C., was a Daytona visitor Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Demuth has been down the East Coast as far as Key Largo and goes from here to points on the west coast of the state. He is accompanied by his wife, who, however, did not come to Daytona with him, but awaited his return at New Smyrna. The department is disposed to give more recognition to agricultural matters in the south than heretofore and Mr. Demuth is in Florida to look up the conditions of the industry in the state and also investigate the bee paralysis which exists to some extent in some localities.

Seemed Unreasonable. The pretty kindergarten teacher had spoken of the foliage of the trees as their clothes, but she was much surprised to hear wee Jamie pipe up: "But, Miss Blank, why do the trees take off their clothes in the winter and put them on when the summer's so warm?"

JUST GOSSIP BY THE GOSSIPER.

Interest in the good roads movement in Florida is growing every day and at the present time there seems to be a better chance for a hard-surface highway the full length of the East Coast than ever before. It will probably be some time before the highway is constructed and ready for use, with branch roads extending to interior points, but the people of Florida are now more fully aware than they have ever been that a complete system of good roads is the one thing most needed to make this the greatest winter resort country in the world. Just as soon as owners of automobiles are able to motor all the way through from their homes to Florida and then proceed by car to any and all points in the state, Florida will furnish an attraction as a winter resort section that can be furnished in no other way.

LARGE AUDIENCE EXPECTED
AT METROPOLITAN CONCERT.

OVER-SEA CELEBRATION SHOWN AT THE CRYSTAL.
One of the greatest pictures yet shown at the Crystal theater and one in which local people are particularly interested, is the motion picture reproduction of the recent Over-Sea celebration at Key West, which shows the celebration and excellent views of the great over-sea railroad. The picture was shown at the Crystal last night and has been held over for tonight by request.

Another picture of local interest which will be shown tonight is "The Note in the Orange Grove," a beautiful photo play taken in a Florida orange grove.

"Chumps," is a screaming comedy, in which John Bunny is starred, and will also be shown tonight.

Almost Tickled to Death.
Flowers Have Eyes.
Many common garden and wild flowers—the nasturtium, begonia, clover, wood sorrel and bluebell among others—possess eyes on their leaves. Moreover, these eyes in their principle of construction resemble those of animals. They consist of minute protuberances filled with a transparent, gummy substance, which focuses the rays of light on a sensitive patch of tissue. The nasturtium has thousands of eyes on its leaves, and these form as many images of the surrounding object. While flowers have eyes, however, it does not follow that they can see. It is not known whether or not the sense impressions are transmitted to some nerve centers corresponding to the brain of animals.—Harper's Weekly.

Watkins was standing at the head of the stairs joking with the girl when she playfully tickled him in the ribs. Watkins dodged back, lost his balance and went headlong down the stairs, hitting the stump of his left arm in his descent. Doctor Watts worked with him for over an hour before he stopped the bleeding.

The most remarkable story of the day is the one told by the man on the street. He is the man who has seen it all, heard it all, and lived it all. He is the man who has the answers to all your questions. He is the man who has the power to change your life.

He is the man who has the knowledge to help you succeed. He is the man who has the experience to guide you through life.
